THURSDAY MORNING ... SEPTEMBER 27, 1868. From Fort Mouroe A Sensation in Norfolk A Defaulting Editor— Elopement, &c.

Norfolk—A Befaulting Editor—Ellopement, &c.

The customary quietness in social circles, and the absence of any excitement just now in Norfolk, has received a sudden shock, in the rumors which pervade the street, respecting a defalcation, with which the name of a well-known resident is connected. It appears that Mr. C. C. Flint, proprietor of the Old Dominion, a Norfolk newspaper, and the chief accountant of the Portsmouth navyyard, disappeared from the city several weeks ago, and now turns out to be a defaulter to the amount of about $8,000. The sole victim is the National Exchange Bank of Norfolk. At a late hour last Saturday evening, Justice Carferew, at the instance of the officers of the bank, issued an attachment against the Old Dominion office, and within the same hour the sheriff of the city took possession of the building, but did not interfere with the usual publication of the paper.

Connected with the final demonsment, and as an aggravating feature of the case, it apas an aggravating feature of the case, it ap-pears that the defaulter some time since sent his wife to Norfolk and induced the wife of a his wife to Norfolk and induced the wife of a merchant to join him in his flight. The de-faulter has beretofore borne an unexception-able character in the community, and the oc-currence came rather unexpectedly. Parties have started in pursuit, and it is generally thought he would be apprehended and brought to justice.

A ROYAL BENGAL TIGER, attached to a menageric exhibiting at the West recently, had a diseased tail, and his owner, after much cogitation, resolved that it must be ampu-tated. Accordingly, at La Salle, Illinois, a farrier, known as Dr. Critcherson, was called upon to remove the offending member. The upon to remove the offending member. The tiger was chained, and the tail was taken off in a scientific manner, but the royal animal wasso enraged at the idea of being converted into a bob-tailed tiger that he made one desperate effort to free himself, and died in the attempt; "but," triumphantly adds the paper from which those facts are deduced, "the tail was amputated." The proprietor of the animal was sorry to the extent of $1,000—the value of the tiger.

During the Fete of the 15th August, in Paris, an Italian girl, poorly clothed, but of preposessing appearance, stopped before the Cafe Riche and endeavored to excite the generosity of the loungers by singing airs from the Italian operas, in a sweet contraito voice and to her own guitar accompaniment. Among the frequenters of the cafe, who thus heard her, were Nandin, Verger, Amodio, and several other artists, who after largely rewarding the improvised cantatrice, took her name and address, and have since organized the raising of a fund to send the girl to school and provide her with a musical education. One of these days we may have a fine artist thus furnished by the above-mentioned members of the lyric profession. Dunns the Fete of the 15th August, in
